House-hunters in Wiltshire will soon be able to take a closer look at a collection of new homes in Allington as estate agent Hamptons hosts an Open Day event at The Bluebells on Saturday 26 February.

The event sees five new plots launched at a scheme which comprises just 17 executive houses. Each of the four- and five-bedroom homes has been designed by Annington Developments to blend in seamlessly with the surrounding unspoilt countryside. Thoughtfully arranged across the landscaped site, all the homes offer a sense of space on elevated positions providing wonderful rural views.

Internally, each property at The Bluebells offers uncompromising levels of specification and comfort. Details include attractive cedar cladding which lends the properties a modern, understated elegance as well as efficient underfloor heating throughout the ground floor. The contemporary kitchen/family rooms benefit from cutting-edge design and are equipped with Bosch appliances, quartz worktops and LED lighting. Similarly, all bathrooms and en suites have been designed to a high standard with modern living in mind. Moreover, all houses boast sizeable utility rooms with outside doors, perfect for muddy gardeners, dogs and children!

Set in Allington, a tranquil location which is surprisingly well connected, The Bluebells lies within close proximity to the M3 and the A303 junctions. The north Wiltshire hamlet is ideally placed between two of the south's most affluent and desirable towns, with Salisbury eight miles to the south-west and Andover 12 miles to the east. To the south-east, Romsey and Winchester are both within easy reach.

Surrounded by countryside, Allington lies just 15 miles from the northernmost fringes of the New Forest, with almost 220 square miles of heath and woodland to explore. The coast lies less than 20 miles to the south. Prices at The Bluebells start from £535,000. Find out more at www.hamptons.co.uk.
