

Link to article

ANNINGTON SUPPORT LOCAL RESIDENTS WITH SEVENOAKS LARDER FOODBANK DONATION

While the cost-of-living crisis continues, research finds that nearly one in four working parents have had to turn to food support services in the last year . To support this essential service for the local community, Annington has donated to Sevenoaks Larder Foodbank in Kent.

The £1,000 donation will support the Sevenoaks Larder Foodbank in providing fresh food and essential groceries to more than 90 local families facing hardship. Committed to ensuring no one in the community goes hungry, and run entirely by volunteers, the charity provides weekly food support, delivered with kindness and respect, and made possible entirely through the generosity of local donors.

Gordon Lee, Chair of the Trustees at the Sevenoaks Larder Foodbank, said: "We are incredibly grateful to Annington for their generosity. The winter months can be especially difficult for many of the families we support, and this donation helps us continue to provide a service that is under constant and growing pressure."

"Our aim is to provide food and a friendly welcome without judgement. As more people in our community need help for the first time, the kindness of existing and new donors will be vital to ensuring no one is left without support."

Stacy Whitehead, Marketing Manager at Annington adds: "As we bring much-needed homes to the village of Halstead near Sevenoaks, supporting the local community is a significant priority for Annington and we're glad to donate to such a worthwhile cause which directly helps those in need."